Publication: The European Union - Catalyst for Economic Freedom?

Each year, the Economic Freedom of the World Report measures the degree to which the policies and institutions of countries are supportive of economic freedom. Studies have shown that economic freedom leads to higher investment rates and income levels, economic growth and a reduction in poverty. But what is the state of economic freedom in the EU? In our latest publication, FNF Europe provides a detailed analysis of the state of economic freedom in Europe and looks at the EU's impact on economic freedom in its Member States.

Upcoming Event: "Balancing economic growth and sanctions on Russia - Challenges for the Latvian EU Presidency"

With the beginning of the New Year, Latvia took over the Presidency of the Council of the European Union - for the first time since it became an EU member state. A focal point of the country's presidency will be the promotion of jobs and growth. At the same time, foreign affairs loom large over Latvia's presidency. Sharing a border with Russia, the Ukraine crisis seems particularly close to this state and other partners in the East are counting on Latvia to deepen cooperation with the EU. Join us for our first Liberal Breakfast in 2015!

Publication: EU support for political parties

The working group "Democracy" of the European Network of Political Foundations (ENoP) launched its second discussion paper: "EU support for political parties - why does it matter and how can it be enhanced?" As political parties are fundamental to functioning democracies, this discussion paper explores the importance of providing assistance to political parties in partner countries to support the construction and consolidation of functioning multi-party democracies.
